

Cincinnati Park Board

MEDIA RELEASE

For Immediate Release: September 16, 2010
PIO Contact: Julie Horne (513) 357-2606
Julie.Horne@cincinnati-oh.gov

WHAT: Great Outdoor Weekend events in Cincinnati Parks
WHEN: September 25 and 26, 2010
WHERE: See program listing:

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 2010

Look, Listen & Learn for Little'uns

Sat., Sept. 25, 10:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m. – Daniel Drake Park

A perfect introduction to nature for your youngster aged 3-5 years. Join us as we walk the smoothly-paved path through the woods and, along the way, participate in activities that use all of our senses to observe the great outdoors. We'll end with a fun game in the field. Two hikes will take place on the hour starting at 10 a.m. Call 861-3435 for more information.

Mt. Airy Forest Festival

Sat., Sept. 25, 11:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.(on-going) – Mt. Airy, Oak Ridge Lodge

Bring the entire family to this fun-filled day of FREE activities, historical and educational opportunities and entertainment. Activities include: outdoor cooking demos, petting zoo, magician, nature activities, crafts, farmer's market, face-painting and balloon art, so much more! Held rain or shine. Call 352-4080 for information.

Campfire Stories

Sat., Sept. 25, 7:00 - 8:00 p.m. – LaBoiteaux Woods

Enjoy the warmth and fellowship of a campfire on this autumn evening. Animal tales will come alive as we engage audience participation to act them out. We will toast marshmallows to wrap up the program. In case of rain or cold weather, the program will be held around our indoor fireplace. For more information call 542-2909.

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 2010

Orienteering: Treasure Hunt for All Ages

Sun., Sept. 26, Start any time from 11:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m. – Stanbery Park

If you like treasure hunts, maps, and exploring the woods, orienteering is for you! Let us introduce you to this cool outdoor adventure sport. Several map games will be offered, plus a beginner level orienteering course. Instruction and maps are provided. Compasses will be available to use, or bring your own. Program lasts about one hour. For more information, call 542-2909.

Fossil Find

Sun., Sept. 26, 12:00 - 2:00 p.m. – McFarlan Woods

Come learn about Cincinnati's unique geologic history and collect your own fossils to take home. Wear proper footwear as trail is steep. We will be hiking from the parking lot at noon. Call 861-3435 for more information.

Honeybees: California's Gold Rush

Sun., Sept. 26, 2:00 - 4:00 p.m. – California Woods Nature Preserve

Who knew there was California Gold right here in our own backyard? Our “gold” comes in the form of sweet, golden honey. Honeybees are key pollinators for so many flowers, and for a great deal of our food crops. Come learn all about honeybees, their biology, how they make honey, their complicated social lives, even their dance moves! We will have open hive demonstrations with live bees in our meadow, beekeeping tools and close up pictures in our nature center, games, and you will even get to taste our California Gold for yourself. Meet at the nature center. Naturalist led hikes to the meadow for open hive demonstrations will be at 2:00 and 3:00.

A Walk Through the “Garden of Eden”

Sun., Sept. 26, 6:00 - 7:30 p.m. – Eden Park

Enjoy the cooler temperatures of the season on an evening stroll through one of Cincinnati's largest and historical parks. Stories and historical photos will be shared on this beautiful park once called the “Garden of Eden”. Appropriate for adults and older children. Meet at Donald A. Spencer Overlook on Cliff Drive. Call 321-6070 ext 16 for more information.

CONTACT: Cincinnati Park Visitor Center at 513-352-4080 or Cincinnati Park Board's Nature Education office at 513-321-6070

GET IN ON THE SECRET OF CINCINNATI PARKS

According to the Northern Kentucky University's annual Cincinnati Entertainment Survey, Cincinnati Parks are the best kept entertainment secret in the region. Now, the Cincinnati Park Board invites you to get in on the secret – visit any of our 75 parks to take a walk, have a picnic or relax and listen to a local band during our free Park Concerts. Visit our Events Calendar for dates, times and directions at www.cincinnatiiparks.com

###