Xavier, UC make U.S. News' best grad programs lists

Business Courier of Cincinnati

The University of Cincinnati and Xavier University made several of U.S. News and World Report's "Best Graduate Schools 2009" rankings for 2008.

UC was ranked among the best law and engineering schools, and Xavier's part-time MBA program made the rankings, according to the magazine's Web site.

Xavier said in a news release that its program was ranked 16th, up from 26th last year. The Cincinnati liberal arts school had the only ranked business program for the area.

Ohio State University (27th), and Indiana University (20th) were the only area schools to be ranked among the "Best Business Schools" in the listing.

UC, however, ranked 52nd out of 100 in the "Best Law Schools" list; and 72nd of 97 in the "Best Engineering Schools" ranking. In the "Best Medical Schools" list, it ranked 40th for research programs (out of 62) and 62nd for primary care programs.
