Subject: American Recovery & Reinvestment Act Update - June 2009

The purpose of this memo is to provide you with an update regarding City of Cincinnati activities related to the American Recovery & Reinvestment Act (ARRA) of 2009.

Background

ARRA was signed into law by President Obama on February 17, 2009 and provided approximately $787.2 Billion dollars in federal spending and tax cuts aimed at stimulating economic activity across the country. Approximately $575.3 Billion of this $787.2 Billion was allocated to spending, and of this amount, approximately $8.8 Billion is expected to flow to the State of Ohio.

ARRA funds are being distributed through a number of different federal and state agencies using a combination of formula, competitive, and discretionary methods to a wide range of eligible recipients. Each ARRA funded program comes with its own set of eligibility criteria, program guidelines, deadlines, and application requirements. New details and funding announcements continue to emerge on an almost daily basis.

Since the ARRA was signed into law, City staff have been working to identify, track, and prepare applications for ARRA funding opportunities for which the City may be eligible with the goal of securing as much funding as possible for City activities. Given the often short timeframes between the posting of a funding opportunity and the application deadline, the ability of the Administration to turn around funding applications in a timely manner is crucial to the success of this effort. Toward that end, City Council passed Ordinance # 0094-2009 authorizing the Administration apply for grants pursuant to the ARRA. It should be noted that while this ordinance authorizes the City Manager to apply for funding under the ARRA, the City will not actually accept ARRA funds without specific ordinances approved by City Council which permit the City to accept and appropriate the funds.

ARRA Funding Awarded to the City to Date

To date, approximately $50.3 Million in ARRA funding has been announced for the City of Cincinnati and its partners. The City has also submitted or will be submitting a number of applications to receive this funding. A summary of these funding opportunities follows:

1) Community Development Block Grant (CDBG-R)

Summary: This is a formula grant program, allocated through the US Department of Housing & Urban Development. ARRA provided approximately $1 billion in funding for this program nationwide. Of that, approximately $43 million is expected to go to Ohio jurisdictions and of that, Cincinnati expects to receive $3,490,694.

Status: The City Administration outlined a proposed plan for the use of these funds in an FYI memo dated May 18, 2009. At its meeting on June 3, 2009, the City Council passed a program, allocated through the US Department of Housing & Urban Development (ARRA provided approximately $43 million expected to go to Ohio jurisdictions and of that, Cincinnati expects to receive $3,490,694).

4) Energy Efficiency & Conservation Block Grant Program (EECBG)

An amended plan was approved by City Council (Doc. 200900799) on June 3, 2009. The deadline for submitting the City's application is June 25, 2009.

ARRA provided approximately $4.0 Billion nationwide to the Clean Water State Revolving Loan Fund program. Approximately $220.6 million of this was allocated to the Ohio Water Pollution Control Loan Fund, administered by the Ohio EPA.

up-front expenses for installing green roofs on new buildings and/or retrofitting existing buildings.

Tracking/Website Developments

The Office of Budget & Evaluation and the Finance Department are working to implement accounting procedures that will allow the Administration to accurately track and report on funding in accordance with ARRA requirements. In addition a “Cincinnati Stimulus Funding” page has been created as part of the City of Cincinnati website to provide general information about ARRA and ARRA-funded City projects. The webpage can be accessed at <http://www.cincinnati-oh.gov/noncms/projects/stimulus/index.cfm>.

The Administration is continuing to explore and pursue additional grant opportunities and will continue to provide updates on ARRA activities on a regular basis. This report is for informational purposes only. No action by City Council is required at this time.
