DIPLOMATS, DIPLOMATIC IMMUNITY, AND FOREIGN NATIONALS

Information:

There are three types of diplomatic identification cards:

- Diplomatic (blue border for diplomats and their families)
- Official (green border for, embassy administrative and technical staff, embassy employees, and their families)
- Consular (red border for consular personnel)

Diplomatic I.D. cards are 3¾” x 2½” and contain a photo of the bearer. The bearer’s name, title, mission, city and state, date of birth, identification number, expiration date, and a U.S. Department of State seal appears on the front of the card. A brief statement of the bearer’s immunity is printed on the reverse side.

Consular identification cards, issued by a country’s respective consulate, are recognized and accepted by the CPD for identification purposes.

The two most frequently used consular identification cards are Mexico’s “Matricula Consular de Alta Seguridad” and Guatemala’s “Tarjeta de Identificación Consular Guatemalteca.” Both of these identification cards are referred to as a CID card. The CID card is identification only, and should not be confused with a Mexican driver’s license.

Definitions:

Diplomatic Immunity – Full criminal immunity or limited criminal immunity which the personnel of a foreign diplomatic mission and, in varying degrees, their family members retain because they serve as representatives of a sovereign state and require special rights and guarantees for the effective functioning of the mission.

Diplomatic Agents – A term embracing heads of missions, ambassadors, and charge d’affaires, and members of their diplomatic staff. These individuals have the function of dealing directly with host country officials and retain the highest degree of privileges and immunities.

Administrative and Technical Staff – Individuals who support the activities of diplomatic agents and perform tasks critical to the inner workings of the embassy. This category includes secretaries, clerical personnel, office managers, and certain professional security personnel. These persons also retain a high level of privilege, but somewhat less than diplomatic agents.

Service Staff – Drivers, cleaners, and building/grounds personnel. They have much less in the way of immunity.

Foreign National – Any person who is not a United States citizen.
Consular Officer – A foreign national, employed at a consulate or in the consular section of an embassy, who represents their government’s citizens and commercial interests. They are not diplomatic agents and do not retain the same privileges and immunities.

Consulate – The offices of a consul and consular officers located outside of Washington, D.C.

Special Bilateral Agreements – There are some foreign countries which do not fall under the aforementioned categories. The United States has bilateral agreements with these countries, which grant significantly higher privileges and immunities to all staff members of their embassy and sometimes staff family members.

U-VISA – Common name for the U Nonimmigrant Status Certification, Form I-918, Supplement B. Confirms that the petitioner has been helpful, is being helpful, or is likely to be helpful in the investigation or prosecution of the qualifying criminal activity of which they are a victim.

U Nonimmigration Status – A designation foreign nationals and their families may request through the Department of Homeland Security, U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services, that allows temporary immigration benefits if they have been a victim of certain qualifying criminal activity.

Purpose:

To comply with federal laws regulating diplomatic immunity through the delivery of fair and impartial police services and establish Department procedure for dealing with diplomatic immunity and foreign nationals. It is understood that dealing with diplomatic immunity poses particular problems for law enforcement officers in applying immunity if they do not understand its purposes or rules.

Promote cooperation between foreign national victims and Department personnel during the investigation and prosecution process. Knowledge and discussion about potential immigration benefits available to cooperative foreign victims, specifically the U-Visa Certification, may help to alleviate fears and increase victim cooperation.

Policy:

The Cincinnati Police Department (CPD) will comply with the federal laws and procedures regarding proper treatment of diplomats who commit or are suspected of committing crimes. When CPD officers interact with diplomats, they will communicate with the State Department as appropriate.

When dealing with individuals who possess diplomatic immunity privileges, officers will perform thorough investigations, keep good records, and report whatever appropriate to the State Department. This allows the State Department to exercise the tools it has to remove individuals from the U.S. who are engaged in criminal activity or to revoke the driving privileges from individuals who repeatedly violate the traffic code.
The Department will assist immigrant crime victims with U-Visa Certification applications if they cooperate during an official police investigation and subsequent prosecution for qualifying criminal offenses. The Community Liaison Unit Commander is authorized as the Police Chief’s designated certifying official, to certify a petitioner’s request for U-Visa certification. Officers are authorized to distribute to any crime victim who may be a non-citizen an informational flyer describing immigration relief and services available to immigrant crime victims.

Federal courts have consistently held that undocumented presence is not a crime but a federal civil violation enforceable only by federal officers. CPD officers will not stop, detain, question, or arrest a person solely on the basis that the individual may have unlawfully entered the country and/or exceeded their Visa. CPD officers will not enforce immigration laws. However, if Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) officers request assistance from a CPD officer in detaining a subject, the officer will provide assistance with the approval of a supervisor.

Procedure:

A. Claims of Diplomatic Immunity

1. When proper I.D. is shown and status is verified, officers will fully respect the immunity. Officers may, however, initiate contact with an individual having diplomatic immunity.
